

Decision Report - PSL Seattle

Below is a review on some key decisions and regulations that were of relevance for PSL Seattle this past weekend on October 12th, 2025.

#1 - False Timer Start

Match: Đỗ Quang Hưng (2) vs Sameer Aggarwal (5), timestamp 2:55:16

On set 1 solve 4, Đỗ Quang Hưng failed to start the timer, initially resulting in a DNF. Upon further inspection, there was an indicator of a false start as the timer was reading an extremely low time. This warranted a call for an instant replay review by the referees.

After review of the instant replay, it was determined that the competitor's right thumb triggered the thumbpad as it was twitching from the slow-motion front-facing angle and was affirmed with the green light appearing to change back to the blue light from the top-down angle. The initial call stands.

#2 Inspection not triggered by referee

Match: Zhouheng Sun (6) vs Sameer Aggarwal (5), timestamp 2:16:48

On set 1 solve 2, the referee failed to trigger and keep track of inspection for Sameer Aggarwal's attempt. An immediate instant replay review was called to determine if (1) the competitor started solving before the 15 second period passed and (2) if it caused the competitor to take extra time to think as they might have been hyper aware that the calls for 8, and 12 seconds were missed - leading to an unexpected distraction.

After review of the instant replay, it was determined that the competitor started solving at 12 seconds of inspection and did not have any noticeable delays without inspection calls. As such, the initial call stands and a re-solve wasn't deemed necessary.

#3 Fire alarm evacuation

Match: Morgan Yeh (3) vs Sameer Aggarwal (5), timestamp 1:49:13

On set 1 solve 1, at the tail-end of Morgan Yeh's attempt the fire alarm was set off, triggering a mandatory evacuation procedure. After returning from the evacuation, the referees deemed it necessary to restart the match as there was a significant delay of 20 minutes.

Please feel free to read our regulations update 1.1 for minor updates based on feedback from previous PSL events and decision reports.

Onwards,
Chai